Sale of Willard-Moran Tickets Shows Rickard Isn't Taking Many Chances.

Occorded, 1916, by The Press Publishing Co.

one is to judge by the result of the first day's sale of tickets for the Willard-Moran fight, Tex Rickard will lose very little money in promoting the battle. Indeed, he may make considerable on his $70,000 venture. Up to late yesterday only box seats were available at Madison Square Garden. It seems that the wise Square Garden, it seems that the wise printer turned them out first. Before 5 o'clock in the afternoon more than $6,900 worth had been purchased. One man passed $900 to the agent in the box office and got thirty-six of the precious pasteboards.

Rickard believes that the $25 seats rill be his best seller, for as he said will be his best seller, for as he said to-day everybody seems to want a box seat. By to-morrow seats worth $20, $15 and $10 will be obtainable at the Garden. Only the $5 and $3 seats will be held out until a few days be-fore the fight.

In addition to the receipts from the VERYBODY thought Tex was crazy when he offered $101,000 not a few think he has let his good judgment run away in standing a tap of $70,000 on the Moran-Willard affair. Tex, however, has promoted more than one championship fistic event and he has yet to stage a financial failure.

HE selection of Charley White as referee for the Willard-Moran fight adds to the attractiveness of the occasion. Few if any men in the sporting world know more about boxing than White, his seputation is above reproach and his personal acquaintance with the biggest of men in every walk of life makes him stand out among referees as a box office attraction. Charley White may stroll down the principal thoroughfare of any of our cities and he cordially greeted by men of affairs. Day in and day out White meets men whose friendship might be considered an honor by the biggest in the land.
